

Circular.

St James's 11th May 1781.

Sir,

I cannot omit the earliest Opportunity of congratulating You upon the signal Success of Lord Cornwallis, who on the 15th of March attacked the Rebel Army under Green, consisting of near 6000 Men, and gained a complete Victory. — Lord Cornwallis's official Dispatches are not yet arrived, but the Accounts received yesterday were published this morning in a Gazette Extraordinary, which I have an additional Pleasure in transmitting to You, as It also contains an Account of Vice Admiral Darby's being on the 11th of April off Gibraltar, and the whole Convoy proceeding with a fair Wind for the Relief of that Garrison.

Respect,

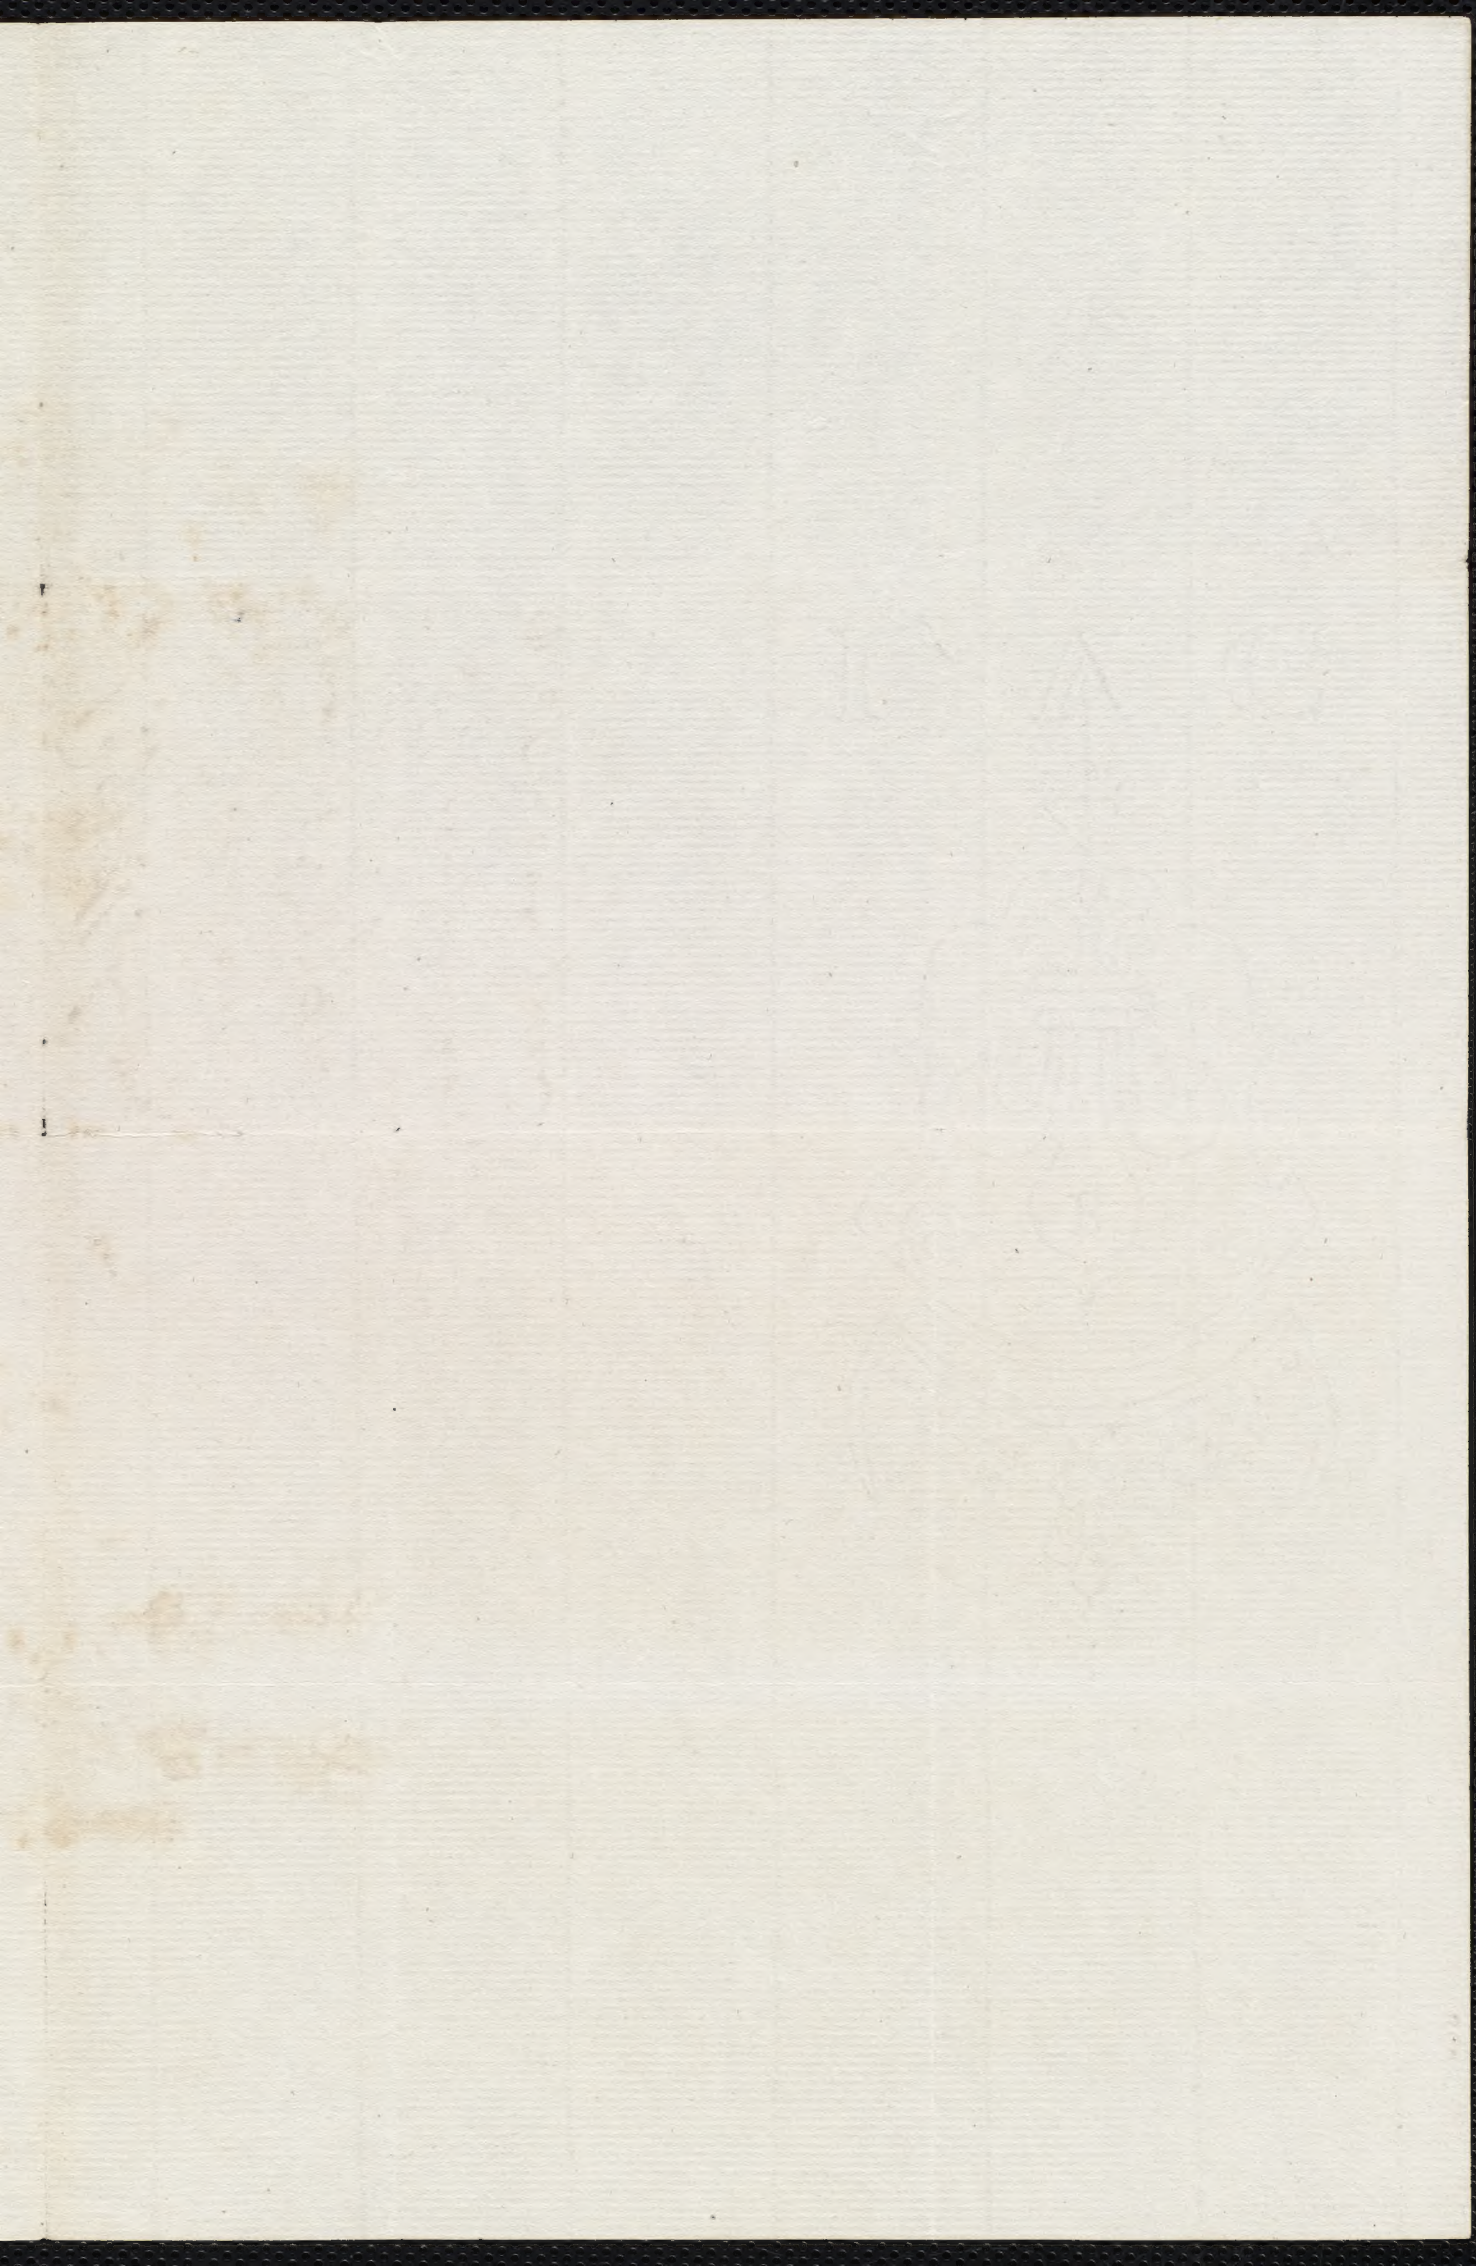

I am with great Truth and

Sir,

Your most Obedient,
humble Servant
